Report from the IYA President, Mattias Dahlström

Dear Yngling Friends

A class is made up by its people and the strength of the Yngling Class lies with all of you sailing the boat. Going to regattas or training, fierce competition on the water, excellent camaraderie on land and meeting friends from all over the world. To all National Yngling Associations, Yacht Clubs, groups and organisations that make everything happen, thanks and keep up the good work!

Looking at numbers and statistics from our last year's Championships you can see that we are a wonderful mix of people. Old and young, families and friends. Crews that have a holiday together with the regattas and crews that dedicate themselves to go home with the medals. The most encouraging statistic is that in the last 4 years womens participation has increased at our Open World Championship and close to a third of all participants are now women. This is something unique in international keelboat racing, but of course the target is set for 50%.

Thanks to the dedicated work of the IYA Technical Committee our Class Rules are in good shape. Some changes are coming into effect this season making it easier to certify and go racing with older boats. There are many Ynglings sailing around the world without racing and the National Yngling Associations are working hard on bringing them into our activities.

The international work to encourage youth sailing by providing good boats and training continues. The success of the Dutch Youth Sailing Program is being used as a good example and a template. A collection of examples and information on well working programs from the Netherlands and other countries is already available.

The 2013 event of the year for the Yngling Class is of course the World Championship. This year we are going to Brunnen in Switzerland. Brunnen has a proud Yngling tradition with both open and womens Championships in their past. As a Class we are happy to come back to Brunnen and Marina Fallenbach.

It is encouraging to see more nations taking part in our Championships and of course support is provided by IYA and neighbouring countries to build new fleets and eventually set up new National Yngling Associations.

Mattias Dahlström

If you want to change something within the sport of sailing you have to make a submission to the International Sailing Federation, ISAF. All national Sailing Federations and ISAF Classes, like the Yngling, have the right to make submissions.

Every year all the Committees and groups of ISAF get together at a conference and discuss all the submissions and make recommendations to the council which makes the final decisions. The Yngling together with all other ISAF Classes is a member of the Classes Committee.

At the 2012 Conference many discussions were about future Olympic events and it was decided that for the first time ever the next Olympics will be sailed without keelboats. The Olympic era is over for the Yngling Class but when opportunity is given we will support keelboats at the Olympics and an equal number of events for men and women.

The ISAF Conference also approves applications to become an International Race Official. I would like to congratulate Lars H Backer on becoming an International Measurer for the Yngling Class.

Elections were held for a new President and Executive Committee. New President Carlo Croce from Italy will lead the future work of ISAF.

Yngling in Sweden

Apart from random boats all over the country most of the Ynglings in Sweden can be found in the south where sailing is much influenced by Denmark. Many of the Ynglings are owned by clubs and are used for sailing school and evening races. The key to getting small fleets together are activities. The boats and the crews already exist so the challenge of the Swedish Yngling Association is to get boats together for organised activities and races.

Sweden has many local national classes that are a good complement but no one can offer the diversity of people and the international spice of Yngling Sailing.

Sailing area Regattaverein Brunnen (RVB)

The Urnersee is a pre-alpine lake with strong thermal winds. In fine weather, thermal winds of 4-6 Beaufort out of the north prevail. Brunnen is situated on the north shore of the Urnersee, where it bends west into the southern part of Lake Lucerne, called Gersauerbecken, where 2-3 Beaufort can be expected when western or eastern winds prevail. Wind out of the south is choppy and usually does not allow for secure and fair races.

The Regattaverein Brunnen (RVB)

The Regattaverein Brunnen (RVB) since its inception has organised more than 150 races and brought many thousands of sailors to Brunnen. This has made an important contribution to tourism as well as making the holiday village on the lake known throughout the sailing world.

Brunnen is located in the heart of Switzerland, in the State of Schwyz. The state of Schwyz is one of the founding states of the Swiss Confederation in 1291. The Rütli, the meadow where the representatives of the three founding states swore their oath of solidarity, is located at Lake Uri, directly on the lakeshore of the racing venues of the Regattaverein Brunnen. This place and many other spots close to Lake Lucerne that are steeped in history, can easily be reached and visited by ship.

In 2002 the Yngling World Championships were held at the same location, organised by the same Yachtclub as in 2013. Back then, 86 crews from 18 nations participated and seven races were sailed in three days with winds up to 5 Beaufort.

Venue/Infrastructure

The Regattaverein Brunnen (RVB) was founded in 1963. The goal of the RVB is to promote regatta sailing, especially for one-design classes.

Enthusiasm, a beautiful region, an even more beautiful sailing area with excellent wind conditions and one of the finest port facilities in Switzerland, were and still are the strengths of the RVB.

Parking spaces for cars and boat-trailers are provided. The harbour has room for 60-70 participating boats. There are two campsites very close to the club area since there is no space for motor homes at the harbour.

Measurer's Report

The World Championships in Aarhus, Denmark in July 2012 was a memorable event that had good weather. The Aarhus Yacht Club, at short notice stepped forward to take over the event and created a great event thanks largely to Lisbet and Hans Knudsen and their team of helpers.

Measuring went smoothly and I was ably supported by Christian Dylla on sail measuring and Lars Backer on equipment and safety.

We also had wonderful support from the local club members who featured in the team photos below.

The Club prepared the measurement areas well and all the participants were accommodated. Although several teams had minor matters to complete all were compliant at the time of sailing.

The recent news that low floor boats have been approved by ISAF to sail at the weight of 630kg has been well received, particularly by the countries who have many low floor boats in their fleets and it will provide an interesting dimension to the sailing in Brunnen this year.

For those intending to sail a low floor boat in the coming World Championships they are reminded that they will be subjected to all conditions of the current rules, except the weight.

Regards and Good sailing.

News from the Danish Yngling Club

We have participated in many events in the season of 2012.

To kick off the season, Denmark participated with six of their own boats in the World Championship in Sydney, Australia. It was the largest fleet of Danish boats to ever have competed in a regatta in Australia, only made possible due to the great support given by our sponsors Mærsk, Finnair, Topdanmark, APM Terminals and Dania Trucking.

When the summer of 2012 came along, it was Denmark's turn to hold both the Youth European Championship as well as the European Championship, bringing along a wonderful atmosphere to Marselisborg Harbour, with tremendous support from Sailing Århus.

The Danish Nationals were held on Furesøen and arranged by Yachtklubben Furesøen, whom we would like to thank graciously.

As well as this we've held regattas in Hellerup, Taarbæk, Kerteminde og Københavns Amatør sejlklub, along with a training session in Bønnerup.

The committee of the Danish Yngling Club have unfortunately had to use a great deal of time and effort on a complaint case involving one of our own sailors. This case has taken and still is taking a lot of time, resulting in great difficulty for the club to get much work done. The case was closed last summer, but the sailor, who had not wanted to persist with the original settlement, has reopened the case. This has resulted in a great inconvenience to the Danish Yngling Club.

Future Plans

We are getting ready to kick off yet another exciting sailing season, which should have started with a regatta at Easter in Hellerup. Unfortunately, due to the thick ice in the harbour, it became impossible and had to be cancelled. In May, Sail Extreme will be held in Kerteminde, on the weekend of Whitsunday. The Royal Danish Yacht Club is holding a training event from 1-2 July and with a regatta in Taarbæk the following weekend. In the Summer holiday a bunch of boats are participating in the Worlds in Brunnen, Switzerland. We then have the Danish Nationals in Bønnerup, regattas in Århus as well as in Copenhagen and Hellerup.

In cooperation with the Dutch Yngling Club, we would like to give new sailors the opportunity to sail the Yngling in rented boats at a reasonable price.

This Year the fleet for the International Yngling Australian Championship was a mixture of past National Champions, youth members from RSYS and those more accustomed to larger yachts, all joining the class for some close one-design racing. Clear blue skies and a slow building nor'easter greeted the fleet for day 1 of racing. Race 1 saw AUS60 2012 NSW State Champion Hamish Jarrett with Max Hayman and dutchman Lieuwe Gietema finish on top followed closely by AUS59 Olympian Karyn Gojnich with Helen Impey and Alexandra Murray. In third place was the RSYS Club boat AUS47 with Nick Howe, David Chapman and James Shannon.

The breeze increased marginally to 8 to 10 knots for Race 2, but was not consistent across the course. Finishing positions were reversed with AUS59 taking the win and AUS60 second. Again, AUS47 came in a close third.

AUS43 found some frustration on board in the light conditions that saw a switch from Alan Reece to son Jordan on the helm in race 3. Taking huge dig to the right hand of the course, away from the fleet and picking up their own private breeze; AUS43 took out the final race of the day only to retire when back on shore.

AUS45 Gary Wogas, Beren Beowulf and Cameron Sloey finished the day with 4, 4, 4. On Shining Star AUS48 Chris Harper, Adrian Amer and Jan Harper were also in the mix at the top of the fleet.

On day two at the scheduled race start time, the wind on the Harbour was light and unstable from the northeast. The decision was made to wait for the southerly already being observed at the airport.

When the breeze did finally turn, it hit with a bang. The race committee held off for 30 minutes in the hope that the initial wind strength of over 30 knots would abate. Finally, racing for the day was abandoned and boats sent back to shore. The decision was vindicated as front lines continued to hammer through during the afternoon recording gusts over 35 knots at Fort Dennison.

On Day Three of the regatta, the sun was out and a light wind was back in the east, north east. The start area was set up in Taylors Bay with the top mark across the harbour towards Watson's Bay.

New comers to the fleet in the RSYS Club boat AUS26 were William Lewis, Patrick Nott and Stewart Wood. Despite breaking their spinnaker pole in the first race on the last day of racing, AUS26 did move up each race and celebrated a 4th in the final race of the regatta. They were very proud to take home the most improved (one design handicap) trophy".

This year the Yngling Gold Cup (for youth teams 23 years of age and under) was won by Eddie Moul, Persia Littlewood and Ben Fraser sailing in the RSYS club boat AUS39 Mistral. Eddie and Persia represented the RSYS in the Yngling European Youth Championship in Denmark in July 2012 and the experience gained was reflected in their much improved results in the open fleet.

Karyn Gojnich (AUS59) won the day on the last day of racing which gave her the regatta. While Gojnich has won 4 national titles in the Yngling as a crew, this was her first as a helm. Gary Wogas (AUS45) with a consistent 3, 3, 2 on the final day bought him up to second overall in the regatta with Hamish Jarrett (AUS60) placing third.

In an effort to familiarise Youth Sailors with the Squadron's fleet of Ynglings, this season the Intermediate Committee began the 'Youth Sailing Keelboat Experience Days'. These days have been a great success with the feedback from youth sailors and parents being overwhelmingly positive. The days are designed to introduce Youth Sailors to keelboats, build confidence and crew skills and give Youth Sailors an opportunity to have fun on a different type of boat with their friends. They are not focused on racing but it is envisaged that once Youth Sailors have been introduced to keelboats in a fun and safe environment this might be something they would like to do in the future.

The Keelboat Experience Days have been run and organised solely by Intermediate Member volunteers who have adopted both coaching and planning roles. Two days have been held this season so far, both on 21 October and 25 November. A third day was also held on March 10.

The first day saw sailors develop their steering and crew skills outside the Squadron before heading up the harbour around Shark Island and the beach at Neilsen Park. With a steady 12 knot nor-easterly breeze conditions were perfect for an introduction to the Yngling and gave the more adventurous sailors a chance to practice their spinnaker skills downwind on the way back to the club.

The second day saw beautiful Sydney spring weather with stunning blue skies and warm conditions along with a gentle breeze. This time sailors adventured further up the harbour before returning to raft-up in Athol Bay in front of the zoo. With 6 Ynglings rafted-up sailors cooled-off and a swim-run-swim race was held on the beach before sailors tested their acrobatic skills by attempting summersaults off the front of the RIBs. Late in the afternoon conditions became perfect for everyone to sail back to the Squadron under spinnaker alone – a challenge that everyone accepted and succeeded with.

It is hoped that Youth Sailors who have been involved in these days will be encouraged to take the Squadron's keelboats out more often and explore the harbour. There is also the option to start competing in the various events run by the Yngling Association next season. Events pitched at youth sailors include the King Haakon Cup, Auspac Regatta, the Yngling Cruise and the Youth Nationals.

In 2012 there was a little change in the management of the Austrian Yngling Association. Martin Lutz replaces Johannes Richard as President of our Association with the assistance of "old" guys as Rudi Mayr or Andreas Knittel. The intention is to prepare a management for a younger generation to take over.

When our dutch friends are training on water, the Austrians prepare themselves in skiing at the first Yngling Ski Yachting in March 2012. If you want to join us – after another success in 2013 it will take place in 2014 again for sure.

In sailing respect the year was opened traditionally with the Open Springtime Championship in Riva del Garda, which is organized every year by the Austrian Association (thank you Andreas). In 2013 it will be carried out as European Championship and it will be a great event with sun and wind – we hope to see you all there ...

We are looking forward to the worlds 2013 in Brunnen/Switzerland – a lovely lake in the Alps. Hopefully our friends from the north will participate.

2012 has been a very successful year for the Yngling Club Holland YCH.

While sailing in general is struggling, we see our fleet maintain its strength and participation in races grows a little.

Membership of the YCH is down a little, as the financial crisis makes former Yngling sailors think twice about where to spend their money.

Much of this success is to be contributed to a foundation, headed by Arjen de Jong for the last 9 years. This foundation, the BMW Nationaal Jeugdzeilplan, (BMW National Youth Sailing Plan) over the years has been looking at the Dutch success in Hockey, Skating and Football and applied the main ingredients to Sailing: state of the art playing fields, professional training, strong competition.

The Foundation now owns 24 Ynglings and a RIB, financially supports the training organised by the YCH and gives the YCH room to concentrate on organising good races.

Creative initiatives

In 2012 we trialed a few initiatives to raise participation.

First, we have a support plan: when a team takes part in a set amount of races or training weekends, it can win financial support for a major event. In 2012 we supported Garda, resulting in 13 teams going to Italy in May. Youth teams especially benefit from this plan. In 2013, we will support the World Championship in costly Switzerland.

Also, at the end of the season we have established a new tradition: the Hein Ruyten Trofee. It started as a compulsory check for the foundation boats, but has grown to a full blown regatta with tune-up training, hospitality services, accommodation, breakfast and dinner included. In 2012 it was our biggest race, with 27 participants. Some of which were invited as former Olympians, but more importantly new teams who could try one of the foundations' Ynglings for the weekend.

Focus points

The YCH's budget has only two major cost factors: training and races.

We spend half our budget on organising 7 training weekends, including all facilities for our sailors. We share knowledge and that makes everyone stronger. A full weekend also includes social evenings eating together and strengthening the bond. This year, foreign teams also joined in, their number will hopefully grow next year.

The other half goes to regattas, where we make sure that we establish an attractive package. We organise accommodation, or a BBQ, or a happy hour. The social aspect of sailing with a variety of sailors, young and old(er), men and women, makes our class unique.

Results

The strength at the top of the Dutch Yngling is maybe not growing, but it is certainly widening. 10-12 teams compete for top spots, favourites are often beaten. And it shows: Dutch teams won the Europeans and two consecutive World titles.

But results only tell part of the story: the way to get them is much more interesting and is what makes our class thrive.

The German Yngling season started exceptionally, early with the longest journey to the World Championship in Sydney/Australia in January 2012. Two teams got together. First Günter Spruytenburg (GER 244) started with the brothers Dieter (age 15) and Liam Knierim (age 14) who attend the German school in Sydney and second Christian Dylla (GER 261) together with Astrid Schutt and Kai Morwinski. Besides some small "debacle(s)" with the ynglings both teams enjoyed the trip as well as the sailing and the friendly atmosphere down under.

For the rest of the German Yngling enthusiasts the season started with the traditional Easter regatta at the Auesee in Wesel. Apart from the known sailing districts like Duisburg, Leopoldshafen and Lohheide, a couple of new events and regattas took place. After several years of abstinence a regatta was offered in Berlin and at the Edersee/Sauerland. Many crews have found their way to the Edersee. The whole weekend was a success, and many of this year participants are already in wait for the Yngling Cup 2013 to be back at the Edersee.

Another premiere called "Duisburg segelt" took place at the lake "Sechs Seen Platte" near Duisburg, a large industrial city with about 10% water surface and known as the largest European domestic port. For four days regatta activities took place with sailors from regional schools and universities, companies and sailing clubs (school cup, university cup, company cup and championship "best of the best" from all classes sailing in and around Duisburg). In former years this event was only arranged for different boat classes. In 2012 the Yngling class was chosen and will continue in 2013.

In early July Thorsten Schutt (GER 1), Hans-Heinrich Gerth (GER 261), Thomas Cramer (BEL 14), Philipp Däbritz (GER 278) and Holger Urbaczka (GER 222) and their teams participated in the European Championship in Kjerterminde/Denmark. A lot of wind, waves and rain made the sailing challenging and brought some sailors to the top of his powers. Over all it was a successful event. Thanks to the organisers.

Presently we are preparing the Yngling World Championship 2014 in Travemünde/Germany. This competition will be part of the famous "Travemünde Sailing Week" from 18 July to 26 July 2014.

We cordially invite Yngling friends from all over the world to the Yngling World Championship 2014 to participate, to watch the runs and party with us!

The Yngling class is one of the most active boat classes in Switzerland. This is reflected in an ambitious calendar with 9 regattas on 5 lakes – plus one additional regatta exclusively for women, the Ladies Cup. This is a pleasure regatta, encouraging women to compete. Women sail, men help, high error tolerance and friendly atmosphere are some of the characteristics of this yearly event, which was established seven years ago. In 2012 Sandra Lehmann organised it on Lake Thun. As wind was lacking sun and fun were the predominant elements.

So it is not only about serious competitive sailing in Switzerland, another event to attract and encourage sailors is the 1st of May training on Lake Zurich, open for all – newcomers as well as experienced sailors. The event goes back to 1999 and was in the good hands of Flavia Gregorini in 2012.

Time wise, the 1st of May training is in competition with the Springtime Championship on Lake Garda, which by nature of the prevailing winds is more suited to the experienced sailors. In 2012 eight Swiss boats were participating. Two more international events were the World Championship in Sydney – great sailing and great hospitality, four participating Swiss boats appreciated very much! Another four boats made it to the European Championship in Aarhus, Denmark, where cool and rainy weather was in strong contrast to the warm hospitality of the Danish hosts.

The 2012 Suisse Championship was carried out on Lake Hallwil, a lovely small lake in the hilly foreland of the Alps. The lake is home of one of the four Yngling fleets in Switzerland. The organising committee under the leadership of Helen Huber established a program, which coped very well with changing weather conditions every day. She even organised a real steamer as a spectator boat. Austrian guests, Maria and Klaus Diem, won the championship in a 40 year old Yngling.

Here a word of thanks to the more than 130 Yngling people in Switzerland. They comprise both regatta and leisure sailors. The latter ones are very often committed helpers making events like the Swiss Championship or a World Championship possible.

The regatta season started in mid April and ended early October. For those who want to do dry sailing in the cold season, virtual sailing is offered every year from January to March in Zurich. It was Marcel Güttinger who several years ago established weekly evening sessions providing a blend of rules discussion and virtual regattas.

Many events have a strong social component. Traditionally there were yearly meetings of all Yngling fleets. A truly memorable one was the visit to a distillery near Lake Hallwil, which also produces a Swiss whisky. It is all a question of taste.

In 2012 Helen Huber announced she would step down as Suisse Yngling president after 18 years of service. Under her leadership the Yngling in Switzerland gained the strength mentioned at the beginning. With her resigned the equally long serving treasurer René Steimer. We want to thank Helen and René very much! The new board was established early 2013; its composition is described under who is who.

Outlook for 2013:

Suisse Yngling together with the Regatta Verein Brunnen is organising the Youth European Championship (YEC) and the Open World Championship from July 18 to 26. In parallel to the YEC we will organise the Crystal Cup, an open regatta allowing sailors to experience the regatta area prior to the World Championship. For details see www.yworlds2013.ch.

Brunnen and the Urnersee is an area of outstanding natural beauty in the midst of the Alps. We are looking forward to welcoming many Yngling sailors in Brunnen. Brunnen has already been the host of an Yngling World Championship in 2002.

Minnesota offered a great venue for the 2012 Yngling North American Championships. 28 boats competed in this year's Championships coming from all four locations in which Yngling fleets exists; Alpena, Michigan, Minnetonka, Minnesota, Okoboji, Iowa, and Sakonnet, Rhode Island.

As usual, Lake Minnetonka provided shifty, unsteady winds throughout the regatta. The teams completed four races on Friday the 10th, but the lack of wind the following day gave the teams a free day. Volleyball and Beanbag Toss competitions provided fun for the sailors on their day off. Sunday morning blew enough wind for the racing teams to fit in two more races, despite cold weather and light rain. The regatta this year consisted of six total races, allowing each boat to drop the score of their worst finish.

Sunday afternoon, once each out of town team lifted their boats from the lake and packed up for the trip home, lunch and awards were given out at Minnetonka City Hall. World Champion Yngling sailors from Sakonnet, John Ingalls and Bruce Chafee took first and second, followed by Alpena sailors Mark Upham, his wife, Karen Upham, and Parker Wedge taking a third. Finishing fourth was Steve Wilson, Pete Wilson, and Pete's daughter Erin Wilson. All teams raced well this year in Minnetonka and are looking forward to next year's Yngling North American Championships in Sakonnet, Rhode Island.

The United States looks forward to two new events in the 2013 racing season. June 22-23 the Sakonnet Yacht Club will host the United States Yngling Association-United States Navy Challenge where members of the United States Navy will prepare for the World Military Sailing Championships in Bergen, Norway sailed in Ynglings. The class is also excited by a fleet of 8 Ynglings that will be based at Salve College and used for intercollegiate match racing beginning in the fall.
